

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Society Plans to Help Wool Fund of Navy League by Large Bazaar—Interesting Meet at Red Cross Auxiliary—Archbishop of York Speaks

THE first thing on the tapis for Easter week is a sale for the wool fund of the Navy League for men in the service. It is to be held on Easter Monday at the Bellevue-Stratford and there will be a motion picture show of Mary Pickford in "Cherella" in the ballroom at 2:30 o'clock.

Some of the women of the Navy League who are interested in the work are Mrs. George W. Childs, Mrs. Alexander Biddle, Mrs. William C. Bullitt, Mrs. Robert K. Cassatt, Mrs. William Ellis Scott, Mrs. Robert C. Drayton, Mrs. Stanley G. Flagg, Jr., Mrs. Horace Binney Howe, Mrs. Francis J. Gaven, Mrs. Thomas Learning and Mrs. Alexander Van Rensselaer.

The committee in charge includes Mrs. Van Rensselaer, Mrs. Theodore Cramp, Mrs. Ernest Law and Mrs. Daniel Hutchinson. Among the boxholders are Mrs. Law, Mrs. Stephen Fugate, Mrs. Charlton Henry, Mrs. Flagg, Mrs. Sam Morris, Mrs. Sydney Hutchinson, Mrs. Paul Mills, Mrs. Van Rensselaer and a host of others.

FOR ANY of us think we are doing much for the Red Cross, it won't do a bit of harm to hear Warden McKenty tell about the work his men under Auxiliary No. 149 are doing for their brothers across the water and in the cantonments here. Why, the headquarters could not supply them fast enough with bandage materials to roll when they first started. They did 2000 rolls in one day and counted for more.

WARDEN McKenty told us this yesterday afternoon at the Independence Square Auxiliary, No. 276. And he told us some perfectly wonderful things about the men he comes in contact with every day. There are 140 men and twenty-four women at present in the Penitentiary.

NEXT Monday there is to be a big time at the Independence Square Auxiliary of the Red Cross. They are going to organize a navy auxiliary and Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury will speak to the workers and tell how this is to be done.

THIS afternoon every one who can get tickets will go to hear His Grace the Archbishop of York, primate of the Protestant Episcopal Church, who is to speak on "The Duties of Women in Wartime."

SO NOW we have another engagement to talk about and a very nice one at that—Norris Williams, who is with the American expeditionary forces in France, and Miss Jean Haddock, of New York. Norris Williams, you remember, was former singles tennis champion. His father was one of those who lost their lives on the Titanic.

THEY were at college together, and as is the way with freshmen (I could not call them fresh girls, you know) they would leave their various belongings all over the place. Well, Jean got a particularly good-looking suit this year of black velvet and fur. And let me tell you, she was proud of it all right.

Well, as these things do happen, in some mysterious way the skirt was mislaid. So Jean suffered keenly over it and finally put up a sign on the bulletin board: "Please return black velvet skirt, if found, to Room 401." There it stayed for two days, that sign, and no news whatever of the skirt.

Then one feminine wag, getting tired of seeing the sign, whipped out her pencil and wrote under it, "Or call for coat to go with same."

Their guests will include Dr. and Mrs. L. Webster Fox and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Pearce.

Mr. and Mrs. Almond's committee of Staff-Officers will give a box party on Saturday, April 6, at the Mack and Wig show in honor of their daughter, Miss Christine Kendrick.

Captain Victor Muller spent the weekend in Haverford with his family.

Mr. Thomas Hart, who is stationed at a southern camp, in visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hart, of 233 South Twenty-first street, the engagement of Mr. Hart and Miss Margaret Newbold Smith, daughter of Mrs. Harry Adams, has recently been announced.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Blinson, who have been spending the winter at the Adine, have returned to their home, Briar Hill, Rosemont. Mrs. Blinson has gone to Florida on a fishing trip.

Mrs. W. S. Beeding, of Bryn Mawr, returned today from a visit to New York.

Mrs. Thomas McLean, of Rosemont, left yesterday to spend three weeks at French Lick Springs, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Williamson Roberts, of Villanova, will have a double-bridal wedding this week and will spend a short time in New York before returning home on April 7.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Winsor, Jr., of Rosemont, spent the weekend in Atlantic City.

Mrs. Margaret Walton has opened her summer home in Atlantic City and will entertain a house party over the Easter holidays. Her guests will include Mr. and Mrs. William Troost, Mrs. Bertha Keen, and Mrs. Clarence Christ, Miss Hannah Berkeley, Mrs. Gertrude Turner, Mrs. J. E. DeWitt, Mrs. Harbison and Mrs. Philip Fragot, of Flushing, I. I.

The wedding of Miss Edith Bentscher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John David Bentscher, of 3612 North Twenty-second street, and Mr. Fred Martin Crauer, of West Philadelphia, will take place on Wednesday afternoon, April 3, in the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Nativity, Seventeenth and Toga streets. Attending the bride will be her sister-in-law, Mrs. David O. Bentscher, as matron of honor, and Miss Florence Reibahn, flower girl. The bridegroom will have for best man his brother, Mr. Jacob Crauer, and for waiters Mr. David O. Bentscher, Mr. Horace L. Barnes, Mr. Leslie Querns and Mr. Roy Querns.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Jennings, of 2322 North Eighteenth street, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. William Melrose, have gone to Ocean City to remain over Easter. Miss Elizabeth Jennings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jennings, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Hewitt, has gone to Virginia Falls, Tex., where Mr. Hewitt is in the service at the aero station. They will be the guests of Mrs. A. E. H. Britain and Mrs. Britain, of Wichita.

Mrs. Carl Hirschel, of 5317 North Nineteenth street, will entertain at luncheon to-morrow, when her guests will include Mrs. Florence Dalrymple, Mrs. N. W. Benjamin, Mrs. Sanford Craven, Mrs. Robert Fries, Miss Margaret Hilton, Mrs. William G. Boggs, Mrs. Clayton Taylor, Mrs. A. Welkel and Mrs. Joseph Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Froelich are moving at their new home, 3849 North Nineteenth street.

Mrs. Franklin P. Kribbe, of West Toga street, entertained at luncheon and bridge today at her home. Her guests included Mrs. William C. Carman, Mrs. Henry Bary, Mrs. George Greenstreet, 23, Mrs. Webb Mercer, Mrs. Charles Russell and Mrs. Alfred Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Cadwallader, of Toga, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Harry Lakens Cadwallader.

Mrs. I. Lowber Temple, of Toga, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Grace Lowber Temple, to Mr. Willard K. Ross. Mr. Ross is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, class of 1911, and member of the faculty of the Northeast High School.

Miss Helen Marie Boyd, of the Powelton Apartments, spent the weekend at the Chalfonte, Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas St. John Westervelt will return home from Atlantic City, where they have been spending the last two weeks at the Marlborough-Blenheim.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Gilbert Donahue and their family, of Germantown, have opened their home in Chelsea.

Dr. Adam Geibel announces the engagement of his daughter, Mrs. Kathryn Geibel, to Mr. Clifford R. Skinner, of this city and Houston, Tex. Mrs. Geibel made her home with her father, at 23 East Mount Pleasant avenue, Mount Airy. Mr. Skinner is engaged in the oil business in Texas.

ELABORATE PROGRAM FOR SHORE WAR FAIR

Charity Workers All Co-operating to Make Red Cross Benefit Big Success

OPENS SATURDAY NIGHT Flare of Patriotic Enthusiasm Will Be Continued Until Following Wednesday

Atlantic City, March 26. (Special.) No single wartime event upon which Atlantic City has embarked has excited the widespread interest and evoked the universal co-operation of forces lining up for the great War Fair for War-torn Relief, to be conducted by the Atlantic City chapter of the Red Cross at the big Exposition Building on the Boardwalk, during the Easter holiday season.

This time has been selected because Atlantic City will be swarming with war workers from all parts of the country, at the shore for rest and recuperation, even more than in 1917 and has been in the great Easter fashion scene on the wooden way.

Atlantic City's first War Fair is to open on Saturday night, with a flare of patriotic enthusiasm and continue on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Already the Exposition Building has been completely transformed. Those who visited it in previous seasons will not know the structure when they enter its doors to pay tribute to the Red Cross a few days hence.

Every patriotic agency in the resort, from the Masons down to the many war committees and patriotic organizations is being drawn upon for workers to make the War Fair a tremendous success from a financial standpoint. Four committees of patriotic citizens, Colonel Aator Camp, of Spanish War Veterans, Grand Army Veterans and Sons of Veterans, the Daughters of the American Revolution, women's clubs and schools, businessmen and women, girl scouts and church leagues all will help.

Much of the burden of responsibility for the working out of an intricate and elaborate details rests upon the shoulders of Mrs. Joel Hillman, wife of a hotelman, vice chairman of the Atlantic City Red Cross and chairman of the war fair committee. With her are associated as vice chairman, Mrs. Arthur Williams, wife of Captain Arthur Williams, president of Atlantic City chapter of the Red Cross, and Mrs. Robert H. Ingersoll, wife of County Judge Ingersoll and a member of the Executive Board of the Red Cross.

Mrs. Williams is supervisor of surgical dressings for the Red Cross and has done wonderful work in organizing workers for that important branch of the Red Cross work here. Behind these three active leaders are aligned practically all of the leading patrons & Clothier's store selling tickets for the war fair for the coming navy ball on April 6. Miss Thayer is the daughter of Mrs. John B. Thayer, Jr. of Haverford, and Miss Clark is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lincoln Clark. They are both debutantes of this season.

Some of the merchants are pushing forward with offerings of all sorts to be sold for the replenishment of the Red Cross coffers. A. E. Mueller & Co., of Philadelphia, has given a building for use to the station in Glassboro, N. J., and facing the site upon which New Jersey shortly is to erect a $200,000 Normal school, which will become the headquarters of some forty patriots at the war fair for the modest cost of $1. The Philadelphia donor will have a deed as soon as the identity of the new owner is established.

Crushed a beautiful Persian cat with a war record of many months in the trenches in Flanders is to be shown at the war fair, through the courtesy of Mrs. George H. Babson, of Vancouver, British Columbia, of the Canadian Artillery, its owner.

The subjects of the lecture will be "The Development of the Human Voice" and "The Development of the English Language." Mr. Douty will be assisted at the piano by Joseph W. Clugan.

MRS. ALFRED C. BALCH Mrs. Balch is very prominent in Lansdowne, where she has much to do with the Twentieth Century Club and the Red Cross work.

MISS MARGARET THAYER AND MISS MARYS CLARK Miss Thayer and Miss Clark are wearing their uniforms as Emergency Aid aides. They were stationed yesterday in a booth at Strawbridge & Clothier's store selling tickets for the coming navy ball on April 6. Miss Thayer is the daughter of Mrs. John B. Thayer, Jr. of Haverford, and Miss Clark is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lincoln Clark. They are both debutantes of this season.

PENN CO-EDS EAGER TO WORK ON FARMS

Red Cross and Other War Aid Does Not Satisfy the Girl Students

The co-eds at the University of Pennsylvania, not content with aiding Uncle Sam in a financial way through concerts, dances and Red Cross work, are directing their attention to farming.

Leaders among the women students at the University have canvassed their numbers and found a score or more of girls planning to go to farms by the middle of June. A large number of girls have declared their willingness to work as farmhands for one month during the summer and a few have expressed a desire to try farming the whole season.

Miss Mary Boyd, president of the Women's Undergraduate Association, has received communications from Captain William Bates, M. B. O., Government distributing officer, and Ralph Tomlinson, a member of Base Hospital Unit No. 29, expressing the appreciation of the United States Government and some of its soldiers for the valuable aid given by the University women in Red Cross work.

Boys to Give Minstrel Show The boys' guild of St. James the Less Church will give a minstrel show and play on Thursday evening, April 4, in the parish house. "Jerry's Job," a Boy Scout play, will be presented by Walter Bookout, Barton Proud, William Minstrel and W. Pickersell. Among the minstrels will be "Thomas Davidson, Russell Wyatt, William Proud, William Molyneux, Winston Edwards, Henry Kaye, Harry Weston, Arthur Ferguson, Willford Taylor, William Kelly, S. Shaw and William Parker. The patronesses include Mrs. Samuel Wagner, Miss Mary Grandford, Mrs. William Grandford, Mrs. Charles P. McDermott, Mrs. H. Boocock, Mrs. William Wyatt, Miss Lydia Farrar and Miss Lucy Brewer.

SAYS U. S. WOMEN LAG IN WAR WORK

Mrs. Blatch Calls Upon the American Mothers and Daughters to Wake Up

New York, March 26. "The American woman lags behind all other women of the Allies in war work," Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch dropped this bomb into the meeting of the Society for Ethical Culture, at 2 West Sixty-fourth street, when she declared that American women were not doing nearly enough to help the war, and that the time would come when they would be called upon to bend their backs to men's labors, even as the women of Europe have done.

"We American women are the only women of the allies who have not had a proclamation addressed to us by the Government," she said. "In France, when the war first broke out, Viviani called upon the women: 'Up then, Frenchwomen, daughters and young sons,' he cried, 'to help bring in the harvest and prepare for the next summer's crops.'" Mrs. Blatch's trusts were directed with equal vigor against the women themselves. "We are too extravagant," she said. "These things stand in the way of our being helpful to our country. We are too fond of the 'way' mother used to do." Imagine fifty women standing over fifty stoves, boiling fifty little pots of potatoes! Women, wake up. That sort of thing won't do. We must adopt the time and labor-saving devices that science has put in our hands. Mother's way won't do for the terribly poor world we have got to reconstruct after the war.

Earl Barnes to Lecture Earl Barnes will deliver a lecture entitled "The Nineteenth Century; Individualism and Collectivism," one of the series of "The History of Civilization," tonight at Association Hall. The lecture will be given under the auspices of the University Extension Society.

RED CROSS FACTORY DOING GREAT WORK

3000 Garments for Belgian Sufferers Made in First 24 Days of Operation

With virtually no waste of material and through the employment of volunteer workers on electrically controlled machines donated for the war work and operated without cost to the organization, the American Red Cross factory in the fourth floor of 1113 o'clock, Administration charge.

The organizer of the Red Cross factory service is Mrs. Greenville H. Montgomery, a prominent worker of the Emergency Aid, who today pointed out the great demand for the factory for more volunteer workers, with or without experience.

There is no limit to the demand for garments that can be made upon the factory, and every effort is being advanced to increase the number of volunteer workers, who come from virtually every station in life. In the morning and afternoon session well known in society circles to the factory in their automobiles to aid in the work; and business women devote part of their time to the cause. Two nights a week, factory and will girls go to the factory to "be good" with their experience the efforts of the officials to help all the order of Federal Food Administrator Hoover for millions of tons of clothing for the women and children of the war-torn sections of Europe.

The work is being done in two shifts, from 10 to 1 o'clock and from 2 in the afternoon until 5 o'clock. On Tuesday and Thursday evenings the plant is open from 7 until 9:30 o'clock.

"ANGEL OF BELLEVUE" HAS LEFT HOSPITAL PLACE

Sadness in Wards When Mrs. Mulhern, Nurse to 25,000 "T. B.'s," Resigns

New York, March 26.—Sadness pervades the Bellevue Hospital today. Especially is this true of the tubercular clinic, where Mrs. Lawrence J. Mulhern administered to the patients for the last eight years, often devoting her own time to caring for the sick in the wards. "The Angel of Bellevue," as she was known to the patients in Bellevue, resigned her position there to accept the post of visiting nurse to the schools of Tubercular and Bronchitis in Westchester County. In her eight years at Bellevue, Mrs. Mulhern, it is estimated, has nursed 25,000 tubercular patients.

Mrs. Mulhern, whose home is in Providence, R. I., then Miss Elizabeth Graham, was graduated from the North Hampton, Mass., Nurses' Hospital, "Coming to New York she took a post-graduate course in the Fordham Hospital and in 1910 started her work in Bellevue.

Not content with her service among the tubercular patients in Bellevue, Mrs. Mulhern devoted much of her spare time to settlement work on the East Side.

On May 2 last she married Lawrence J. Mulhern, of Elmhurst, L. I., then employed as a civil engineer for the city of New York. The wedding was the culmination of a courtship in January, 1917, at which the bride acted as godmother and the bridegroom as godfather.

Hunting a Husband

By MARY DOUGLAS

JAMES MELELE did not come last night. I waited until 8 o'clock. I went up to my room, tore off the hat that I had made with my pleasure in the morning. Flung off my dress.

"This morning I am trying to forget. But there was no letter. No telephone. How could I do that? I turned my head and saw the floor. But even in the awful tangle of my hair, I saw the red and round in my head. "Why didn't he come? Why didn't he let me know?"

"There in our little sitting-room sat Anne Jones? She returned my hand shake with a heavy grip. I like this girl. She is uncontrolled by popularity. I had heard that the house party admired her. Yet her head is quite unturned. She goes upon her way so easily.

"I have come to ask your advice," she said, planting it once into her subject. My advice? It is worth what it seems to be quite insufficient to help me out of my own difficulties.

"I know of several good schools. I would gladly go with her and get her started. My eyes were shining. The conventional words, "Thank you so much," were on my lips. "I know of several good schools. I would gladly go with her and get her started. My eyes were shining. The conventional words, "Thank you so much," were on my lips.
